

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY BOARD

Bluebonnet Luncheon & Membership Tea

The Dallas Baptist University Women's Auxiliary Board recently held their annual Membership Tea, hosted at the home of Diane and Joel Allison in North Dallas. The Membership Tea allowed new members of the Women's Auxiliary Board to meet returning members as well as members of the DBU faculty and staff.

During the spring semester, the Women's Auxiliary Board also hosted the Bluebonnet Luncheon on the Dallas Baptist University campus to honor graduating international students. Representing 18 countries, 52 of DBU's 554 international students graduated during the May commencement service, and those graduating and in attendance were honored during the luncheon.

Christy Gandy, director of global missions, offered special music during the luncheon, while Masumi Yamataka, DBU international student services director, shared her testimony.
